THE USE OF SULFUR-CONTAINING FUELS
FOR DIRECT OXIDATION FUEL CELLS

Examiner: Yuan

S.N. 10/053,085

Art Unit: 1745

April 22, 2003

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-30, drawn to a solid oxide fuel cell, classified in class 429, subclass 30.
 - II. Claims 31-33, drawn to a method of restoring the operability of a solid oxide fuel cell, classified in class 502, subclass 300.
 - III. Claims 34-53, drawn to a method of fabricating a porous anode for a solid oxide fuel cell, classified in class 429, subclass 40.

2. Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(e)). The sulfur poisoning in the solid oxide fuel cell can be minimized with the use of Zr-doped niobium oxide as a catalyst. See Bortun et al. (US 6,468,941), abstract, column 11, lines 29-49.

3. Inventions III and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). As admitted in the subject matter of the present claims, the porous anode used in the solid oxide fuel cell can be fabricated by four distinct processing procedures as recited in claims 34-38, 39, 40, and 41-53, respectively.

4. If invention III is elected, an election of species is required. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention.

III-1, Claims 34-38, drawn to a method of fabricating a porous anode in a solid oxide fuel cell comprising the steps of providing a porous nickel-containing cermet with Ni content between 10 and 60%.

III-2, Claim 39, drawn to a method of fabricating a porous anode in a solid oxide fuel cell comprising the steps of forming the slurry into a second layer.

III-3, Claim 40, drawn to a method of fabricating a porous anode in a solid oxide fuel cell comprising the steps of forming the slurry into a second tape.

III-4, Claim 41-53, drawn to a method of fabricating a porous anode in a solid oxide fuel cell comprising the steps of applying the slurry of a second tape casting formulation to a supporting substrate and forming the slurry into a second tape.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, none of the claims directed to invention III is generic.

Art Unit: 1745

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

7. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
